Terroir

Transitional-continental climate with cool, dry summers and warm winters. The region is characterized by the natural phenomenon of evening wind - a light wind that appears at night and stops before noon, as a result of the different heating of the air between the flat and mountainous areas. Evening primrose is an excellent regulator of alcoholic fermentation and favors the formation of aromatic substances in the grapes. The soils are sandy-clay and clay-limestone.

Technology

The cooled grapes pass through a vibrating table for manual selection of the bunches. Destemmed berries goes to fermenters with a volume of 2 to 8 cubic meters, where cold enzymatic maceration is carried out for 8 days, followed by fermentation at a temperature of 24-26°C. Aging "sur lie" for 12 months in french barrels 225l, clarification, stabilization and bottling.

Tasting notes

Intense, dark red color with violet hues. Ripe and intense aromas of blackcurrant, mulberry, black cherry, blueberry are complemented by pleasant spiciness and dark chocolate. Well balanced, juicy, dense and elegant body. Excellent structure, resonating into a long finish.
